View From The Box

I survived my journey to work (Tuesday) to write this despite the best efforts of storm Ophelia this morning, aside from a lack of electricity plus a few trees to avoid on route I don't seem to have suffered too much. A rough night nonetheless for a few of us for other reasons; Scott had trouble with poachers, Will had a tree fall on his sheep pens and my tups smashed their water trough which was a joy to fix with Ophelia howling round my lug holes; seems then that as usual Dan has all the answers as he now spends his spare time playing Farming Simulator on his PlayStation, last night he was flat out farming whilst keeping warm and dry, a power cut is his biggest potential farming disaster.

Cattle

Sell live and thrive, the Bulls were a monumental trade last Thursday and we could have sold a lot more; the deadweight firms with their weight caps, age prejudice and waiting lists are certainly off the pace at the moment. The clean too are good to sell, lots of demand for all classes in particular the butcher spec heifers which seem to be in very short supply nationally; harvest is done, drilling almost finished, trade is excellent, yet still no rush of fat cattle, they are perhaps not there? A dispersal of breeding cattle on Tuesday on behalf of Messrs' Sanderson will be worthy of your attention, hardy cattle from a hard farm will be sure to thrive wherever they go.

Sheep

We are seeing good numbers through our store ring and with good reason, the lean lambs in the prime ring are not wanted and the store trade still stays very strong. I am personally offering a free service now to all store lamb vendors, with the dark mornings I understand that it is difficult to get up on a Monday morning, if you are worried about arriving late then just let me know, I will gladly phone you and ensure you are awake, expect your call sometime after 4am. We aim to start selling lambs at 10am, we need you in the mart by 9.30am at the very latest please, if you do not require my alarm call then why not pop to Argos they will sell you a clock for less than a fiver.

And finally

Suckler sale season is upon us as one of our biggest days of the year approaches, the Great Annual Show and Sale takes place on the 30th of October, early entries are appreciated with 800 cattle expected on the day Tracey and I will try our best to make the pieces of the jigsaw fit. Please be aware that entries do close at lunchtime on Wednesday 25th and it is paramount that you enter as on occasion (due to numbers) we have made this a catalogued cattle only sale.
